EXACT PURPOSE

Of the Military Expedition to Santiago Is to Destroy Cervera's Fleet.

Washington, June 16 .- Some of the many congressional visitors at the war department these days have been impelled to question the officials as to the exact purpose of the military expedition to Santiago. From the strength of the expedition and certain comments that have been made by military officers the idea had gotten abroad that Santiago was to be made the base of operations against Havana. It was learned, however, that the department's plans do not contemplate this.

The sole purpose of landing the troops canal transportation. The board adopted at Santiago and capturing the town is to destroy or capture the Spanish fleet, for notwithstanding all that has been done toward bottling up these ships, the strategists are by no means satisfied April 1, 1898. Washington, June 16.—The welcome news came to the navy department yesterday afternoon that the little band of American marines who had planted the flag on Crest hill and were defending it night and day against heavy odds, were not only safe, but were strongly reinforced by 1,500 Cubans from the commands of Garcia and Rabbi and were now strong enough to more than hold their own. It was disclosed in a dispatch from Admiral Sampson and brought much relief to the naval offi-seems to have been in the nick of time and naval officials give the fullest credit to the timeliness of this Cuban co-operation. The admiral's dispatch stated that the condition of the marines was "entirely satisfactory," which assurance, although brief, was enough to relieve officials here of the fears they had entertained. But probably the most significant feature of the admiral's dispatch was the statement that the Cuban general, Rabbi, had occupied Acerraderos, only eight miles from Santiago, may enlist. Disagreeable Impression.

A disagreeable impression has been created among officials here by the refusal of the Spanish authorities to carry out their early offers for the exchange of Hobson and his associates. Dynamite Cruiser Fires on Santiago Eatteries.

FIRST TEST SATISFACTORY

Three Shots Containing Two Hundred Pounds Each of Gun Cotton Exploded In the Enemy's Fortifications—The Ore. 26 27 28 29 30 gon also Dropped In a Few Shells. Complimented by Sampson.

Off Santiago de Cuba, June 14, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 16.—The New Orleans, having been ordered to destroy the new emplacements half a mile east of El Morro, took up a position about 800 yards from shore and 2,000 from the Morro battery. She opened up on the emplacements with her rapid-fire guns. Red clouds of sand rose on the hilltop, where the emplacement was building. Following the 15th shot, the Morro batteries replied with one shell that fell near the stern of the flagship New York. After 20 minutes' gun practice Admiral Kansas Ci Sampson signaled the New Orleans to cease firing. Then, as she retired, the Morro batteries sent 10 shells after her, but without damage.

Admiral Sampson hoisted the signal "firing well done," the first compliment of the kind from the admiral.

The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius was put to work immediately. Ensign Palmer of the New York went on board the Vesuvius with Lieutenant Commander Pillsbury to explain the location of the batteries. The Vesuvius moved within a half-mile of the beach west of El Morro. Lieutenant Commander Pills. bury gave the word to fire. There was a slight hissing, a sort of couching noise, but no flame, no report, no warning to the Spaniards, who were hiding in the darkness. Thirty seconds later a dull roar broke the silence of the tropical night. Two hundred pounds of gun cotton had exploded on the hill side below the battery.

The ships on the blockade lines two miles away shook with the explosion. The firing of a 13-inch shell is a mere rifle crack compared to the deep and mighty roar. Clouds of earth seemed to stand out against the black sky. Another package of guncotton was dropped on the other side of the battery. Before the echoes of the second died away the Vesuvius sent a third charge hissing out. It fell right on the brow of the hill, where the battery seemed to lie. Into the air flew tons of earth and the smoke covered the land for half a mile The Vesuvius retired at a 16-knot rat 3. Two flashes from the hill and two Spanish shells flew beyond the cruiser. The test was regarded as highly satisfactory.

Annexation Resolution Passes the House by a Vote of 209 to 91. Washington, June 16.—By a vote of 209 to 91, the house of representatives yesterday adopted the Newlands resolutions, providing for the annexation of Hawaii. The debate, which has continued without interruption since Saturpied with the task of completing the day, has been one of the most notable of this congress, the proposed annexation being considered of great commercial and strategic importance by its advocates, and being looked upon by its opponents as involving a radical departure from the long established policy of the country, and likely to be followed by the inauguration of a pronounced policy of colonization, the abandonment of the Monroe doctrine and participating in international wrangles. More than 50 members participated in the debate. From a party standpoint the result was awaited with the kee nest interest. The Republicans presented practically a unanimous support to the resolutions, but three Republican members voting in opposition. In the Democratic ranks the division upon the question was more marked, 18 Democratic members voting for annexation.

On the steamer Senator is the First regiment of Nebraska volunteers, numbering 1,023 men and officers.

Thousands of people assembled along the docks to witness the departure of the fleet and when the signals ordering the vessels to get under way were observed a mighty cheer went up. Vessels in the harbor blew long blasts and every factory and mill in the manufacturing districts saluted the vessels with blasts from their whistles. Bombs were exploded and cannon were fired and the four vessels bearing loads of humanity and munitions of war passed down the

Of the Military Expedition to Santiago

Is to Destroy Cervera's Fleet. Washington, June 16 .- Some of the many congressional visitors at the war department these days have been impelled to question the officials as to the exact purpose of the military expedition to Santiago. From the strength of the expedition and certain comments that have been made by military officers the The Use of Electricity For Canalboa idea had gotten abroad that Santiago was to be made the base of operations against Havana. It was learned, howcontemplate this.

The sole purpose of landing the troops at Santiago and capturing the town is to destroy or capture the Spanish fleet, for notwithstanding all that has been done toward bottling up these ships, the strategists are by no means satisfied of the harbor and escaping with at least a part of his squadron.

Montreal, June 16.-Lieutenant Car. ranza emphatically denies the statement from Madrid that he and Senor Du Bosc have been directed to leave Canada.

CAMP ALGER.

Regimental Commissaries at Fault Re garding Food Supplies.

Washington, June 16 .- A number of complaints having been made that the soldiers at Camp Alger are not receiving sufficient fresh beef and other food General Graham made an investigation which shows the fault is with the regimental commissaries, as such supplies are always to be had on requisition. Recruits continue to arrive, 63 reporting from Ohio and 80 from New York yesterday. Chaplain Morgan of the Sixth Illinois has resigned as he says he is unable to endure camp life. His home is in Cuba, a small town near Havana. Ills.

To Provide a Confederate Regiment. Washington, June 16.-Representative Grosvenor of Ohio has introduced a resolution for the enlistment of one regiment ofmen who served in the confederate army, now under 60 years of age, providing that if a sufficient number under that age cannot be obtained that the sons of the confederate veterans may enlist. Atlanta is named as the mustering point and the companies are to be mustered in as completed.

GENERAL BROOKE ENCOURAGED Over the Prospect That Every Regiment Will Be Equipped.

Chickamauga National Military Park, Ga., June 16. - The most satisfactory reports are being received from the various recruiting offices, and the indications are that the regiments here will receive their full quota of men at an earlier date than was anticipated.

General Brooke is greatly encouraged over the prospect of having every regiment equipped within a week. Captain Rockwell of the ordnance department reports that he has received notice that 7,000 rifles have been shipped from the Columbia arsenal and will arrive today. Captain Rockwell thinks that by the end of the week three-fourths of the regiments here will be fully equipped with arms and ammunition. The army bakery has increased its capacity to 50,000 loaves of bread per day, and two other ovens will be added within the next week.

The enemy surrounds the town. I have had our lines drawn closer around the city and strengthened at intervals by trenches. Communication is still cut. I expect General Monet with reinforcements, but I have no news from him. "The white population of the suburbs, fearing they will be massacred by the rebels and preferring the risk of bombardment, have entered the fortified part of the town and will assist in its defense. I do not known when the bombardment will commence."

Jamie Fernieres.

Key West, June 16. - Jamie Fernieres, who says he is the first officer of the Spanish hospital ship Alicante, was brought in here yesterday as a prisoner of war on board the British prize steamer Twickenham, captured by the cruiser St. Louis on June 10. Conflicting stories are told concerning the Spaniard's presence on board the Twickenham, and there is strong suspicion that he is a more important capture than superficial circumstances might indicate.

Washington, June 16.—The welcome news came to the navy department yesterday afternoon that the little band of American marines who had planted the flag on Crest hill and were defending it night and day against heavy odds, were not only safe, but were strongly reinforced by 1,500 Cubans from the commands of Garcia and Rabbi and were now strong enough to more than hold their own. It was disclosed in a dispatch from Admiral Sampson and brought much relief to the naval offi-

The coming of the Cuban forces seems to have been in the nick of time and naval officials give the fullest credit to the timeliness of this Cuban co-operation. The admiral's dispatch stated that the condition of the marines was "entirely satisfactory," which assurance, although brief, was enough to relieve officials here of the fears they had entertained. But probably the most significant feature of the admiral's dispatch was the statement that the Cuban general, Rabbi, had occupied Acerraderos, only eight miles from Santiago, and practically a suburb of that Spanish stronghold.

Fine Military Stroke. This is looked upon as a fine military roke for Accerraderos is the nor where iron wharves will afford facilities for unloading the heavy artillery carried by General Shafter's invading expedition. The news also indicated to the authorities here that the Spanish garrison at Santiago has practically retreated inside the city proper, giving up the outlying towns. Admiral Sampson also states that General Garcia is cooperating with the American forces. Whether this means that Garcia himself has arrived from Bayamo is not quite clear, but if he has, the joint! forces of Garcia and Rabbi will make 3,000 to 5,000 seasoned Cubans recently armed with Springfields as a bushwhacking guerilla force to aid the American troops. In making his march on Acceraderos, Rabbi crossed the line of communication between the Spanish commander General Pando at Holguin and the Spanish forces at Santiago de Cuba. This fact makes it clear that Santiago is not likely to get reinforcements from General Pando. In circling around Santi ago to reach Acceraderos, Rabbi, it is believed here, has also established it as a fact that the lines of communication Vesuvius sent a third charge hissing and relief to Santiago, are interrupted and practically cut off in all directions.

Disagreeable Impression. A disagreeable impression has been created among officials here by the refusal of the Spanish authorities to carry out their early offers for the exchange test was regarded as highly satisfactory. of Hobson and his associates. The good faith of the first offers are now being questioned and the impression is growing that the Spanish are indirectly endeavoring to hold Hobson as a valuable prisoner.

of General Merritt it has been decided to give the second expedition to the Philippines a naval convoy from Honolulu to Manila. While, in the opinion of those who are in position to know, the armed convoy was scarcely deemed necessary, it was thought to be best not to take any unnecessary chance where the lives of so many men were involved. Three Shots Containing Two Hundred Pounds Each of Gun Cotton Exploded In the Enemy's Fortifications-The Oregon also Dropped In a Few Shells. Complimented by Sampson.

Off Santiago de Cuba, June 14, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 16.—The New Orleans, having been ordered to destroy the new emplacements half a mile east of El Morro, took up a position about 800 yards from shore and 2,000 from the Morro battery. She opened up on the emplacements with her rapid-fire guns. Red clouds of sand rose on the hilltop, where the emplacement was building. Following the 15th shot, the Morro batteries replied with one shell that fell near the stern of the flagship New York. After 20 minutes' gun practice Admiral Sampson signaled the New Orleans to cease firing. Then, as she retired, the

but without damage. Admiral Sampson hoisted the signal 'firing well done," the first compliment of the kind from the admiral.

The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius was put to work immediately. Ensign Palmer of the New York went on board the Vesuvius with Lieutenant Commander Pillsbury to explain the location of the batteries. The Vesuvius moved within a half-mile of the beach west of El Morro. Lieutenant Commander Pills. bury gave the word to fire. There was a slight hissing, a sort of couching noise, but no flame, no report, no warning to the Spaniards, who were hiding in the darkness. Thirty seconds later a dull roar broke the silence of the tropical night. Two hundred pounds of gun cotton had exploded on the hill side below the battery. The ships on the blockade lines two miles away shook with the explosion. The firing of a 13-inch shell is a mere rifle crack compared to the deep and mighty roar. Clouds of earth seemed to stand out against the black sky. Another package of guncotton was dropped on the other side of the battery. Before the echoes of the second died away the out. It fell right on the brow of the hill, where the battery seemed to lie. Into the air flew tons of earth and the smoke covered the land for half a mile The Vesuvius retired at a 16-knot rats. Two flashes from the hill and two Spanish shells flew beyond the cruiser.

A Ship Canal as a Consequence of the War. The energy awakened by our early wars against England gave us the Erie Canal, the national pike, and the development of Western river navigation. The civil war gave us our great transcontinental railroads. The present war with Spain must, if its logic is heeded, give us a transisthmian ship canal. The Pacific is to be the theater of great events and of a rapidly expanding commerce in the years to come. We need the Nicaragua Canal in order to give our Eastern seaboard a fair opportunity in the Oriental trade. We need it also or our trade with our own Pacific coast and with the western coast of South America. It is now evident, moreover, that we need the Nicaragua canal as a defense measure. THE vote on the annexation of Ha waii in the House of Representatives stood 209 for and 91 against the proposition. Congressman Griffith was among those who voted for the annexation. Eighteen democrats yoted for annexation and three republicans against it.

Ar this season of the year institutions of learning throughout the country are graduating young men and women in large numbers. The increasing interest in general education among the people is one of the signs of our adyancement. More and more do the learned professions and in fact all lines business, trade and industry demand educated men. This demand will continue to increase in future years if the progressive spirit of the American people means anything as it most certainly

Men, trained to think as well as trained to act, are the men first called into service now. Gladstone said that test of the student's powgraduation was what he could do, that is his ability to work and accomplish something by his labors. This really is the test of all true education, and comes with much force to every thoughtful student.

POLITCAL BREVITIES

It has been decided to hold the democrati: district convention at Columbus July 28. It is generally conceded that Congressman Griffith will be renomin ated by acclamation.

Senator Turpie has accepted the invitation to preside at the democrati state convention June 22, and is now preparing his speech which he will deliver in one of his seven tongues.

Josiah Gwin, of the New Albany Public Press, on Saturday afternoon was chosen by acclamation as the democratic candidate for joint senator of the counties of Floyd and Harrison. His republican opponent is General Jasper Packard, editor of the New Albany

The arrests were made on affidavits filed by Deputy State Fish emmissioner Oscar Welty of Kokomo and Marion Welty, deputy commissioner for the district of Boone and Clinton counties.

POSTMASTER RESIGNS.

udden Arrival of the Postoffice Inspector

Probably the Cause. Gas City, Ind., June 16.—Postmaster William Lytle has sent his resignation o the postoffice department. The cause of this was the unexpected arrival of Inspector Fletcher. When the accounts were checked up and the money and stamps counted there was a considerable discrepancy, the total amount of which s not stated. Lytle made good the disrepancy, and he informed the inspector that he had wired his resignation to the postmaster general. Lytle has held office over three years.

A Ship Canal as a Consequence of the War. The energy awakened by our early wars against England gave us the Erie Canal, the national pike, and the develpment of Western river navigation. The civil war gave us our great transcontinental railroads. The present war with Spain must, if its logic is heeded, J. G. Adams, A. J. Shelby, Peter give us a transisthmian ship canal. The Pacific is to be the theater of great events and of a rapidly expanding commerce in the years to come. We need the Nicaragua Canal in order to give our Eastern seaboard a fair opportunity in the Oriental trade. We need it also or our trade with our own Pacific coast and with the western coast of South America. It is now evident, moreover, that we need the Nicaragua canal as a defense measure. The naval situation n the West Indies last month showed how much might possibly have depended upon the prompt arrival of the Oregon, which has required some ten weeks to proceed by way of Cape Horn from San Francisco to Key West. On the other hand the naval situation in the Philippines showed how, under certain contingencies, it might have been necessary to send a relief expedition to Admiral Dewey from the Atlantic coast. at Joshua Brown's last week. At 11 o'clock this morning a dirty impudent tramp went to the home of David Baird and demanded in an insulting manner of Mrs: Baird something to eat. On being told that nothing was cooked he began cursing her and drew from his pocket a gun and threatened to shoot her. She screamed and he then departed. He then went to the home of Mrs Miller only two doors west and demanded the same Being told nothing was prepared he threatened to shoot her. She like Mrs Baird fainted from fright. Marshal Thickston was sent for and arrested the fellow and took him to the ladies who readily recognized him as the guilty party. $17 was found on his remon but the revolver was missing. The marshal then locked him up and he may get his just dues.

"With the actresses the case is very much the same. The celebrated foreigners, according to their own accounts, are quite unacquainted with anything that the American press may write about them. Agnes Sorma said that she did not intend to read any of the criticisms of her work until she started home on the steamer. It didn't take a conversation of more than three minutes to show that she had a fairly ac curate knowledge of everything that had been printed about her. It must have been some superior sort of clairvoyance that is possible only to the artistic temperament, for hadn't she said that none of them would be read until she had got on the steamer to go to Eu. rope? ACTORS AND SINGERS AND THEIR REMARKS ON THE CRITIC.

Callous Indifference or Ignorance the Commonest Refuge of the Artistic Nature. Several Cases Cited by the Innocent Re

"There are many amusing things about the artistic temperament," said the innocent reporter, "but you have to know the disposition in order to tell how funny they really are. You must the Southern Indiana were in the city know enough not to believe them always and then through all your intercourse with the professionals there will flow an accompaniment of easy humor went yesterday to Medora to visit rela- that gives acquaintance with these persons an added pleasure. One charming incident of this can always be found in their views of what the newspapers say about them. Mrs. James Brown Potter is the only woman I ever saw who talked frankly about that subject.

"'So long as they don't ignore me, she said, 'I don't care what they write. Let them say anything so long as they say it, but it would be horrible to be left alone.

"That was a very truthful statement of her own opinions and almost unparalleled in its frankness. Everybody knows that Mrs. Potter has never had very much to thank the newspapers for that was really pleasant, but she had plenty to be grateful for as long as she was willing they should print anything if it kept her in the public eye. "Almost as genuine was a young American singer who came back here after she had made a debut and some little reputation in Europe. She was a pretty woman and she had a good voice, but she was unfortunate. Once she had a sore throat and another time she was out of condition for some other reason At all events she was never in condition to do herself justice. So there was nothing pleasant that, even with the kindest intentions, the newspapers could say about the young woman. One night toward the close of the season she was in a grand tier box at the opera house.

and halted in front of the greenroom. 'What is that room?' her friend asked. "Planting herself deliberately in front of the partly opened curtains, she said in a voice audible to every man in the room, 'Oh, that is the place they go to write, in the most disagreeable way they can, the most disagreeable things they can think of about you.' The younger singer was unjust, but she had no false vanity. She was willing to have it known that she read what the newspapers said about her. Her more

She said this one day while waiting outside Largest amount of cash wheat owned of Maurice Grau's office at the Metropolitan, and then turning suddenly to a reporter standing near her asked if he was the man that wrote she had signed contract to give some concerts at receive $2,200. The man did not understand French, so Mlle. Calve's com panion translated the question into English. The man replied that he represented another newspaper, and when she turned this into French for Mlle. Eames has an indicated indifference for what the newspapers say which is sometimes a little bit difficult to reconcile with her intimate knowldge of what they publish about her. Mme. Nordica takes her press clippings with Total net loss, (estimated) June 13, her coffee, and she makes no bones of it. Jean de Reszke is a regular reader of what the newspapers have to say about him, and, whatever he may think about it in reality, he never, but in one instance, took any notice of it. Plancon enjoys reading the agreeable things and enterprising than W. F. Peter who that are written about him and doesn't profess to be wholly ignorant of what the newspapers write. "With the actresses the case is very much the same. The celebrated foreigners, according to their own accounts, are quite unacquainted with anything producing such a furor all over the that the American press may write about them. Agnes Sorma said that she did not intend to read any of the criticisms of her work until she started home on the steamer. It didn't take a conversation of more than three minbottle free or a regular size for 50 cents curate knowledge of everything that and $100. Guaranteed to cure or had been printed about her. It must have been some superior sort of clairvoyance that is possible only to the artistic temperament, for hadn't she said that none of them would be read until she had got on the steamer to go to Europe? Sarah Bernhardt has them all translated to her and accompanies the performance with more or less emphatio reflections on the intelligence of the writers who do not agree with her own ideas of what she does. It is said that the atmosphere of the Hoffman House was heavily charged with brimstone for several days after Mme. Sarah had the New York accounts of her performance lish. When the American actors read unfavorable accounts of themselves, they are always able to tell how they came to be written. Suffered 20 Years.

RS. MARY LEWIS, wife of a prominent farmer, and well known by all old residents near Belmont, N. Y,. writes: "For twenty-seven years I had been a constant sufferer from nervous prostration, and paid large sums of money for doctors and advertised remedies without benefit. Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of sinking spells and slowly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first the medicine seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appe tite began to improve and I rapidly grew better, until now I am as nearly restored to health as one of my age may expect. God bless Dr. Miles' Nervine."

The combined forces razed a Spanish camp about five miles from the American position, destroying the only well in the vicinity and killed about 40 Spaniards. One American marine was slightly wounded. Two Cubans were killed and four were ber of Spaniards engaged owing to their guerilla methods of fighting, but it is believed there were at least 400.

The marines behaved splendidly, their marksmanship being excellent, even under the severe fire of the enemy.

The captured camp lies about 5 miles sontheast of the riflepits of the marines and was an important base for the enemy, as it contained the only well within six or seven miles. Lieutenant Colonel Huntington decided on the attack early in the day and the force started across the mountains. The march up and down the steep hillsides under the glaring tropical sun was a severe test of endurance for the marines, and before the battleground was reached 22 men had received medical attention. All were able, however, to reach the position before the fighting ceased.

The marines were compelled to march in single file following the mountain trail. It was noon when, from a hilltop, the Americans caught sight of the Spanish camp lying on a ridge below them. It consisted of one large house, the officers' quarters, surrounded by num r us "shacks" and houses all clustering about the precious well.

Bullets were whirling viciously over the Americans, but the marines settled down to their work as unconcernedly as though at target practice.

The enemy was lying behind the huts and the brush, but the puffs of smoke revealed their positions and enabled the Americans to do effective work. For 20 minutes both sides maintained a terrific fire. The Spanish shots were wild and spasmodic, while the Americans coolly fired away, aiming carefully and shooting to kill. It was beginning to look as though a bayonet charge down the slope would be necessary to dislodge the enemy when suddenly the latter began to break for a thicket 100 yards further on. Little groups could be seen fleeing from the camp, separating, darting through the brush and zig-zagging to escape the bullets.

It was then the American fire became most deadly. Man after man could be seen to fall in a vain rush for shelter, and the fire from the Spanish became scattering and almost ceased.

Two Cubans were killed and four wounded and Private Walker of Company D had to limp to the rear with a slight wound in his ankle.

The easy victory put the command in high spirits. The little black Cuban warriors waved their machets and howled curses at the Spanish in savage fashion. Their firing had been wild throughout, but they all displayed the utmost contempt for the Spanish bullets, apparently being absolutely without fear.

As the enemy began breaking from the camp the Dolphin, which lay at sea, was signaled and began pitching shells toward the thicket for which the Spaniards were making. Meanwhile Lieutenant Magill was seen coming with 40 men as reinforcements and Captain Mahoney was on the way with 100 more, but before they reached the scene the

EXACT PURPOSE

Of the Military Expedition to Santiago Is to Destroy Cervera's Fleet.

Washington, June 16 .- Some of the many congressional visitors at the war department these days have been impelled to question the officials as to the exact purpose of the military expedition to Santiago. From the strength of the expedition and certain comments that have been made by military officers the idea had gotten abroad that Santiago was to be made the base of operations against Havana. It was learned, however, that the department's plans do not contemplate this.

The sole purpose of landing the troops at Santiago and capturing the town is to destroy or capture the Spanish fleet, for notwithstanding all that has been done toward bottling up these ships, the strategists are by no means satisfied that, if the situation is to be allowed to of making a 3-year test, subject to the continue indefinitely, Cervera might not approval of the governor. GENERAL BROOKE ENCOURAGED

Over the Prospect That Every Regiment Will Be Equipped. Chickamauga National Military Park,

Ga., June 16.-The most satisfactory reports are being received from the various recruiting offices, and the indications are that the regiments here will receive their full quota of men at an earlier date than was anticipated.

General Brooke is greatly encouraged over the prospect of having every regiment equipped within a week.

Captain Rockwell of the ordnance department reports that he has received notice that 7,000 rifles have been shipped from the Columbia arsenal and will arrive today. Captain Rockwell thinks that by the end of the week three-fourths of the regiments here will be fully equipped with arms and ammunition.

I expect General Monet with reinforcements, but I have no news from him.

"The white population of the suburbs, fearing they will be massacred by the rebels and preferring the risk of bombardment, have entered the fortified part of the town and will assist in its defense. I do not known when the bombardment will commence.'

Jamle Fernieres.

Key West, June 16 .- Jamie Fernieres, who says he is the first officer of the Spanish hospital ship Alicante, was brought in here yesterday as a prisoner of war on board the British prize steamer Twickenham, captured by the cruiser St. Louis on June 10. Conflicting stories are told concerning the Spaniard's presence on board the Twickenham, and there is strong suspicion that he is a more important capture than superficial circumstances might indicate.

Washington, June 16.—The welcome news came to the navy department yesterday afternoon that the little band of American marines who had planted the Dynamite Cruiser Fires on flag on Crest hill and were defending it night and day against heavy odds, were not only safe, but were strongly reinforced by 1,500 Cubans from the commands of Garcia and Rabbi and were now strong enough to more than hold their own. It was disclosed in a dispatch from Admiral Sampson and brought much relief to the naval offi-

The coming of the Cuban forces seems to have been in the nick of time and naval officials give the fullest credit to the timeliness of this Cuban co-operation. The admiral's dispatch stated that the condition of the marines was "entirely satisfactory," which assurance, although brief, was enough to relieve officials here of the fears they had entertained. But probably the most significant feature of the admiral's dispatch was the statement that the Cuban general, Rabbi, had occupied Acerraderos, only eight miles from Santiago, and practically a suburb of that Spanish stronghold.

This is looked upon as a fine military stroke for Accerraderos is the port where iron wharves will afford facilities for unloading the heavy artillery car ried by General Shafter's invading expedition. The news also indicated to the authorities here that the Spanish garrison at Santiago has practically retreated inside the city proper, giving up the outlying towns. Admiral Sampson also states that General Garcia is cooperating with the American forces. Whether this means that Garcia himself has arrived from Bayamo is not quite clear, but if he has, the joint forces of Garcia and Rabbi will make 3,000 to 5,000 seasoned Cubans recently armed with Springfields as a bushwhacking guerilla force to aid the American troops.

In making his march on Acceraderos, Rabbi crossed the line of communication between the Spanish commander General Pando at Holguin and the Spanish forces at Santiago de Cuba. This fact makes it clear that Santiago is not likely to get reinforcements from General Pando. In circling around Santi ago to reach Acceraderos, Rabbi, it is believed here, has also established it as a fact that the lines of communication and relief to Santiago, are interrupted and practically cut off in all directions. Disagreeable Impression.

A disagreeable impression has been created among officials here by the refusal of the Spanish authorities to carry out their early offers for the exchange of Hobson and his associates. The good faith of the first offers are now being questioned and the impression is growing that the Spanish are indirectly endeavoring to hold Hobson as a valuable

Three Shots Containing Two Hundred Pounds Each of Gun Cotton Exploded In the Enemy's Fortifications-The Oregon also Dropped In a Few Shells. Complimented by Sampson.

Off Santiago de Cuba, June 14, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 16.-The New Orleans, having been ordered to destroy the new emplacements half a mile east of El Morro, took up a position about 800 yards from shore and 2,000 from the Morro battery. She opened up on the emplacements with her rapid-fire guns. Red clouds of sand rose on the hilltop, where the emplacement was building. Following the 15th shot, the Morro batteries replied with one shell that fell near the stern of the flagship New York. After 20 minutes' gun practice Admiral Sampson signaled the New Orleans to cease firing. Then, as she retired, the Morro batteries sent 10 shells after her,

but without damage. Admiral Sampson hoisted the signal "firing well done," the first compliment of the kind from the admiral.

The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius was put to work immediately. Ensign Palmer of the New York went on board the Vesuvius with Lieutenant Commander Pillsbury to explain the location of the batteries. The Vesuvius moved within a half-mile of the beach west of El Morro. Lieutenant Commander Pills. bury gave the word to fire. There was a slight hissing, a sort of couching noise, but no flame, no report, no warning to the Spaniards, who were hiding in the darkness. Thirty seconds later a dull roar broke the silence of the tropical night. Two hundred pounds of gun cotton had exploded on the hill side below the battery. The ships on the blockade lines two miles away shook with the explosion. The firing of a 13-inch shell is a mere rifle crack compared to the deep and mighty roar. Clouds of earth seemed to stand out against the black sky. Another package of guncotton was dropped on the other side of the battery. Before the echoes of the second died away the Vesuvius sent a third charge hissing out. It fell right on the brow of the hill, where the battery seemed to lie. Into the air flew tons of earth and the smoke covered the land for half a mile The Vesuvius retired at a 16-knot rat 3. Two flashes from the hill and two Spanish shells flew beyond the cruiser. The test was regarded as highly satisfactory.

the government is considering the ad. yesterday adopted the Newlands resolutions, providing for the annexation of Hawaii. The debate, which has conwar department is now entirely occu- tinued without interruption since Saturpied with the task of completing the day, has been one of the most notable equipment of the large number of or of this congress, the proposed annexation being considered of great commercial and strategic importance by its advocates, and being looked upon by its opponents as involving a radical departure from the long established policy of the country, and likely to be followed by the inauguration of a pronounced policy of colonization, the abandonment of the Monroe doctrine and participating in international wrangles. More than 50 members participated in the debate. From a party standpoint the result was awaited with the kee nest interest. The Republicans presented practically a unanimous support to the resolutions, the armed convoy was scarcely deemed but three Republican members voting in opposition. In the Democratic ranks the division upon the question was more marked, 18 Democratic members voting for annexation.

The vote in support of the resolutions yesterday was made up of 179 Republicans, 18 Democrats, eight Populists and four Fusionists; the vote against annexation comprised 77 Democrats, three Republicans, seven Populists and four Fusionists.

Ar this season of the year institutions of learning throughout the country are graduating young men and women in large numbers. The increasing interest in general education among the people is one of the signs of our adyancement. More and more do the learned professions and in fact all lines business, trade and industry demand educated men. This demand will continue to increase in future years if the progressive spirit of the American people means anything as it most certainly

Men, trained to think as well as trained to act, are the men first called into service now. American singer who came back here after she had made a debut and some little reputation in Europe. She was a pretty woman and she had a good voice, but she was unfortunate. Once she had a sore throat and another time she was out of condition for some other reason. At all events she was never in condition to do herself justice. So there was nothing pleasant that, even with the kindest intentions, the newspapers could say about the young woman. One night toward the close of the season she was in a grand tier box at the opera house. During one of the entr'actes she was walking about the fover with a friend, and halted in front of the greenroom. 'What is that room?' her friend asked.

"Planting herself deliberately in front of the partly opened curtains, she said in a voice audible to every man in the room, 'Oh, that is the place they go to write, in the most disagreeable way they can, the most disagreeable things they can think of about you.' The younger singer was unjust, but she had no false vanity. She was willing to have it known that she read what the newspapers said about her. Her more illustrious colleagues are not always so willing to admit that. "I have heard Mlle. Calve protes? that she never saw any newspaper but the Paris Figaro, and declare that she really had not the slightest idea what New York papers wrote about her. She said this one day while waiting outside of Maurice Grau's office at the Metropolitan, and then turning suddenly to a reporter standing near her asked if he was the man that wrote she had signed a contract to give some concerts at $2,000 a night when she was really to receive $2,200. The man did not understand French, so Mlle. Calve's com panion translated the question into English. The man replied that he represented another newspaper, and when she turned this into French for Mlle. Calve she mentioned the name of the newspaper from which she had had translated the dreadfully erroneous paragraph which had led the public to believe that Mlle. Calve had consented
